

'THE TERROR FROM BEYOND SPACE - IT MUST EAT YOU TO LIVE'

Horror Movie Ad Controls Urged by MLA

LOIS HAGEN
"hysteria"

Control of gruesome pictures advertising horror movies was urged in the legislature Wednesday by Mrs. Lois Hagen, the CCF member for Grand Forks-Greenwood.

"These advertisements are often much worse than the movies themselves," she declared. "Some of them are absolutely terrifying and must exercise a harmful effect on young minds."

From a bundle of such advertisements on her desk, Mrs. Hagen quoted these titles:

"How to Make a 'Monster,'" "Teen-age Cave Men," "The Thing That Couldn't Die," "The Case of the Faceless Man," "The Terror from Beyond Space (It must eat you to live)," "The Brain Eaters."

Mrs. Hagen suggested control of movie advertisements by the B.C. censor of motion pictures during discussion of an estimate of $19,751 for the censor's department, which comes under the attorney-general.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said he would raise the matter with the B.C. censor and suggest some of the exhibitors might review their policy on advertisements.

Bert Price (SC-Vancouver Burrard) urged further control over movies designated "for adult entertainment only."

"Many of them are not even fit for adults," he said, adding that one evening he and his son toured Vancouver and found only one movie that was not "for adult entertainment only."

Mr. Bonner said the B.C. censor exercised some influence over movies dealing with sex, but did not have the same control over "plain bad taste."

The public controls them pretty effectively by not going to movies which appear to have been produced in bad taste."

Mrs. Hagen mentioned that a number of children of her acquaintance suffered "illness and hysteria" after attending what was advertised as a children's matinee of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" (a film version of the classic novel by Robert Louis Stevenson).

Mr. Bonner admitted this film might have a considerable "emotional impact" on children, but said it was no worse in that respect than Grimm's Fairy Tales.

"For sheer unadulterated horror these tales are hard to beat," he said. "I remember the effect they had on me as a child."

However he added, "I am genuinely uneasy about censorship of films, because censorship tends to become ridiculous when censors are given too much latitude."

Estimates for the film censor's department revealed that the censor receives $5,880 a year.

High Flight Berlin Test Delayed

LONDON (Reuters) — The Western powers have decided to postpone resumption of flights above 10,000 feet in the Berlin air corridors, an informed source said today.

The source said such flights by the United States, Britain and France are unlikely in the near future.

The three powers have postponed their approach to the Berlin air safety centre to notify it of such impending flights, the source said.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman in Berlin said this week that Western flying above 10,000 feet would constitute a violation of East Germany's airspace.

Earlier the three Western powers were reliably understood to have agreed that further high-altitude flights along the Berlin corridors should be made to maintain the claimed right of passage for aircraft at any height.

Yuri Beburow, chief spokesman of the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin, said this is "good news."

Ike Pledges Co-Operation As Tour Ends

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (CP) — President Eisenhower left for home by air today after condemning "all efforts to undermine the democratic institutions of the hemisphere through coercion, subversion or blatant lies."

There was no repetition of Wednesday's anti-American outbursts here as the President ended his Latin American tour.

In a brief farewell speech Eisenhower said the United States stands ready to consult with its Latin American "good neighbors" on economic, political, social and security problems both on a bilateral and multilateral basis.

He repeated past assertions that "we wish to see all the Americas progress rapidly."

Addressing all the republics of the Western Hemisphere, Eisenhower pledged firm U.S. adherence to the policy of non-intervention.

The President was in a buoyant mood as he took off for Buenos Aires. There he changed to his Boeing 707 jet for an all-day flight to Puerto Rico and three days of rest before going on to Washington.

WINTER COMES LAST TO VICTORIA

Just 17 days before the official arrival of spring, the dying winter tossed a delayed punch at Victoria, snarling traffic, causing rash of fender-bending minor accidents, and generally annoying disgruntled citizens. Times photo by Irving Strickland was taken from roof of Bank of Montreal building at Douglas and Yates, looking North on Douglas toward City Hall, in early stages of storm.

WARNING BY GREEN

New Sea Law 'Or Chaos'

OTTAWA (UPI) — Failure of the forthcoming second law of the sea conference to reach agreement on territorial limits could mean "chaos" in international waters, External Affairs Minister Green said today.

The minister told the Commons external affairs committee that the conference, scheduled for Geneva later this month, represented something of a last chance for a negotiated agreement on the subject.

It's our opinion that, if there is no agreement at this conference, it will probably be a long, long time before there's any international agreement," he said. "This would mean that each nation would probably assert its individual claims."

The result would be chaos as far as a law of the sea is concerned."

HOPEFUL

Green said he was "hopeful" that a two-thirds majority could be secured for the Canadian proposal for a 12-mile territorial limit and 12-mile fishing rights with no provi-

pointed out that it was the

IN THE HOUSE WITH
Norman Cribbens

Thousands upon thousands of our precious dollars have been voted into government service since the legislature resolved itself into a committee of supply—last Monday.

Before the end of next week it is likely the full $331,000,000 (repeat million) allocated in Premier Bennett's 1960 budget will be well on their way to being spent—or sunk into what is called consolidated revenue.

Most of the green-backs will go into almost every conceivable type of project from road and bridge building to cow conservation and pest control.

When the House goes into committee of supply (symbolically to the Queen), Mr. Speaker Hugh Shantz leaves the chamber, the great golden mace is removed from its pedestal and Deputy Speaker Alex Matthew (SC-Vancouver Centre) takes over as committee chairman.

Estimates of expenditure that are not challenged by the Opposition are voted through with the monotony of a monk's chant, viz:

"Shall Vote No. 1 pass?—Aye."

"Shall Vote No. 2 pass?—Aye."

Fortunately there are plenty of interruptions, and occasionally the interruptions provoke a full-scale debate lasting several hours.

Tom Uphill, the lively 86-year-old member for Fernie, didn't deny the evils, but told how beer has been the boon of man—all through the ages.

"I am assured that Noah took a lot of it on board after he built the Ark—and when Columbus landed in North America he found the Indians making it."

"Beer," said Mr. Uphill, "has been brewed and consumed in every land in every era of mankind. You cannot deny beer—why should you when so many millions of people enjoy it?"

Mr. Uphill said his constituents in Fernie, mainly coal miners, appreciated beer more than anyone, and jubilantly announced that a new brewery is being built in Fernie.

"Are they running out of anti-freeze?" asked Mr. Tisdale.

A man who feels it his business to relieve the tedium of legislation is Irvine Corbett, the burly Social Credit member for Yale.

Mr. Corbett excels in practical-jokes and is a great trial to his immediate neighbor, Mrs. Buda Brown (SC-Vancouver-Point Grey).

In the general quest for relaxation Mrs. Brown slipped off her thin-heeled shoes during a prolonged debate.

Mr. Corbett hid them so that, when Mrs. Brown had an urgent summons to leave the chamber to speak to someone in the corridor, she could not do so without walking out in her stockings.

"I'll get even with him yet," she promised.

QUEBEC (CP)—Russia has the "most progressive and democratic" education program in the world, Amasasp Arountanian, Soviet ambassador to Canada, said Wednesday.

Superior Judge Clement D. Nye held that sentencing was legal, as long as the new execution date is after the end of the 60-day period.

Mr. Arountanian said the Russian revolution in education had affected all levels, not just the higher ones. There were technical schools, special schools with evening classes for farmers and laborers.

AGADIR, Morocco (CP)—Rescue officials said today that 2,350 victims of the Agadir earthquakes have been buried already in mass graves, and that whole areas of the city remain to be searched.

As the figure was disclosed, Moroccan Army troops sealed off the city. Military teams deployed through the streets spraying rubble with disinfectant.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Con-

They argued that the court could not set a new date as a 60-day reprieve has not expired.

Superior Judge Clement D. Nye held that sentencing was legal, as long as the new execution date is after the end of the 60-day period.

'LATTER-DAY LADY MACBETH'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Red-haired Carole Tregoff is a "latter-day Lady Macbeth" who pushed her lover, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, to the murder of his wife, the state charged today in the windup stage of their trial.

Prosecutor Fred N. Whichello lashed out in scorn at the pair shortly after the doctor's defense ended.

"I will do most of my talking about Dr. Finch," he said, "but I'm not forgetting this latter-day Lady Macbeth at the other end of the table. She is really the aggressor and instigator of this whole thing, but Dr. Finch acted as executor of the plan."

A SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

A Portrait of Richard Nixon

(This is the fifth in a series of 18 articles based on the book, "Richard Nixon, a Personal and Political Portrait," by Earl Mazo, published by Harper & Brothers, New York.)

By EARL MAZO

From the moment he walked into the Congressional hearing room on Aug. 5, 1948, and raised his hand to be sworn, it was obvious to everyone that Alger Hiss was quite different from the run-of-the-mill types that usually paraded before those microphones. Before the day was done, Nixon realized that this was his "first real testing."

When Hiss concluded his testimony, the general feeling in Washington was that the long-controversial Un-American Activities Committee had made its final blunder, and was finished.

Hiss had impressed practically everyone with the implication that the committee had been duped into permitting Whittaker Chambers, an ex-Communist turned magazine editor, to use it as a forum from which to slander people. Congressman Rankin, the crusty old Mississippi Democrat, was so moved that he left his seat to shake Hiss' hand.

The 'Red Herring'

That morning President Truman declared at a White House press conference that Republicans had cooked up spy hearings "as a red herring to keep from doing what they ought to do" about inflation and the nation's other serious problems.

On Aug. 10 Nixon visited Chambers at his farm at Westminster, Maryland. He said it was "mainly for the purpose of attempting to convince myself on the issue of whether or not Chambers, in speaking of Hiss, was speaking of a man he knew, or was telling a story which he had concocted."

Two hours of conversation just about convinced him. The clincher came when Chambers walked to the porch with Nixon as the Congressman was leaving. "I was still trying to press him for any personal recollection which might help us in breaking the case,"

Nixon's memorandum reads on.

"The conversation came around to religion and he said that Mrs. Hiss was a Quaker and that he also was a Quaker. I told him that I was a Quaker, and then suddenly Chambers snapped his fingers and said, 'Here's something I should have recalled before. Mrs. Hiss used to use the plain language in talking with Alger.'

"As a Quaker I knew that Chambers couldn't know such intimate matters unless he had known Hiss, although, of course, there was a possibility that some friends of Hiss' might have told him of this. He pointed out that Alger was a genuinely kind, intelligent individual. That was the reason that Chambers was attracted to him—probably because they were both in the movement for the very highest motives."

Last Doubt Gone

When Hiss appeared before the committee again on Aug. 16 and was questioned closely about the personal data Chambers had provided, Nixon saw practically every answer as a confirmation of Chambers—and his last doubts were cleared away.

The public hearing at which Hiss and Chambers were brought face to face was held on Aug. 25. It produced the expected headlines and heightened the controversy over who was lying. But Nixon and the committee were aware that, for all their effort, there was still one big hole in the case:

It was summed up in the word "why."

The weak point in Chambers' story was that Chambers was unable to give a satisfactory explanation for what he talked about with Hiss and the other (Communist party) members of their group when he came down to see them each week (in the mid-thirties). Nixon noted in his memorandum:

Espionage Angle

"Chambers used to say that they discussed party policies, how to get new members for the ring, and so forth. Of course, the explanation was that his group was engaged in espionage, and although both Stripling and I discussed this possibility, we were not able to get any information from Chambers along that line."

Later Nixon added: "It now seems probable that the explanation for Chambers' letting out his story in bits was that he did not want to go into absolutely necessary, and he knew that the more of the story he told the more likely it was that his connection with the espionage activity would be established."

The scene for that fatal phase was set on Aug. 17 when Hiss dared Chambers to repeat his charge where he would not have Congressional immunity from a libel suit. On Aug. 27 Chambers did just that on a radio program, "Meet the Press."

A month later Hiss sued. And it was that civil suit which led to Chambers' production

Canada's Jobless Biggest Problem

(From Times News Service)

OTTAWA — Unemployment must command the attention of the Commons as Canada's most pressing domestic problem, Opposition Leader Pearson said Wednesday.

He spoke in the Commons just before the close of the seventh day of debate on the $15,000,000 supplementary estimate to cover government expenditures under the 1959-60 winter works program.

A government member's shout of "What are you doing now?" greeted the Liberal leader's denial that the opposition is prolonging unemployment debate unnecessarily.

Mr. Pearson replied:

'Despicable, Rotten Attitude'

The seventh day of debate brought some hot words from Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East).

Labor Minister Starr had gone "right down into the gutter" Tuesday night when he stated that no opposition suggestions had been made. This was "conservative hypocrisy."

Plenty of constructive suggestions had been offered. But because they did not suit the minister and his government they were ignored.

This was "a despicable and rotten attitude" and it was Mr. Starr's feeling "the over the payments.

Polio Victims Helped By Soviet Flower Drug

MOSCOW (AP) — From a little white flower resembling the snowdrop, Russian pharmacists have extracted a chemical which they say helps polio victims recover.

But Mikhail Mashovsky, head of the pharmacological department of the Moscow Chemical Institute, emphasized in an interview that the new drug—called galanthamine—is not a cure. It cannot restore completely destroyed nerve centers.

A previous report broadcast by Moscow radio Jan. 24 claimed the drug, available abroad under the name of galantoin, was a complete cure.

The chemical, an alkaloid, was found almost by accident in 1948 when scientists were experimenting with an extract from galanthus vernalis, a white flower resembling the snowdrop that grows in the

New Engine Runs On Peanut Butter

LONDON (UPI)—The Rolls-Royce Company today displayed an automobile engine that can be run on just about anything—even peanut butter.

A company spokesman said that once the engine is used in cars, motorists who run short on gasoline—or peanut butter—might also fill the tank with diesel oil, high octane aviation gasoline, or kerosene.

The design of the engine is such that its appetite for fuels can be widened to anything from peanut butter to creosote," the spokesman said confidently.

Rolls-Royce spent seven years developing the fuel-gobbling engine, which probably one day will replace all current engines in British military vehicles.

Geneva Net for B.C. Fish

THIS MONTH NATIONS CONCERNED with the Law of the Sea will meet again in Geneva to try to reach accord on two vital and disputed points.

They hope to settle the breadth of territorial waters extending from a state's coastline and the breadth of the fishing zone over which maritime nations will have jurisdiction.

The eyes of British Columbia's fishing interests will be focussed sharply upon the meetings. The results mean dollars and cents to the industry here as well as possible preservation of the fish resources.

Canada takes to the meetings a proposal which won wide support at the last convention in 1959, but not the two-thirds majority required to make it law.

This country's proposal calls for territorial limits extending six miles to sea from a baseline fixed ashore, plus an additional six miles beyond the territorial limits for exclusive fishing jurisdiction.

The United States has advanced a plan calling for similar limits, but seeking to preserve "historic" fishing rights in waters where a nation's fishermen have operated for the preceding five years.

British Columbia's fishing interests are concerned directly with that proviso. They want none of it. Canada has excellent arguments against such "historic" rights. This country points out that new coastal nations and those about to be created, have no historic rights because they did not exist five years ago to establish them. If any country were accorded such rights on the basis of former practice, an automatic discrimination would be imposed on new nations.

Furthermore, argue the Canadians—and the British Columbia fishing interests do not like this particular argument at all—arrangements for one country to fish in waters designated as those of another can best be made by bilateral negotiation.

British Columbia and other Canadian fishing interests fix a hard eye on this suggestion. Bilateral negotiations as far as they are concerned would be negotiations between the United States and Canada. And the fishing interests look with no enthusiasm toward discussions in which the United States could use its massive, if unstated, influence.

The Fisheries Association of British Columbia strongly supports the general Canadian proposal, noting as it does, that no country in the world has done a better job than Canada in maintaining her coastal fisheries.

"Our neighbors on the West Coast," says the association's bulletin, "Japan, Russia and the U.S.A. are the world's leading fisheries nations, all anxious to expand their fisheries production. The rich fisheries off the B.C. coast are therefore most vulnerable. A change from (the existing) three to 12 miles (limit) will give added protection against increased activity by these fleets."

"Such a change," the association adds, "will not interfere in any way with the splendid management of the Fraser River sockeye and pink salmon runs by the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission, since these runs are divided equally between Canada and the United States."

Now, it notes, will a change affect the work of the Canada-U.S. International Pacific Halibut Commission, or the Canada-Japan-U.S. International North Pacific Fisheries Commission, since the work of these commissions lies outside the territorial waters of participating countries.

A decision on territorial waters will, of course, have other results beyond those affecting fisheries. It could close some internationally-used straits by extending sovereignty by certain coastal states over the sea, a distance of six miles, rather than three miles, from the shore.

The extension could also force ships further out in regular journeys on the high sea—and, by the same token, make aircraft swing in wider arcs.

Other issues of vital concern are involved in the proposed change. To British Columbia, however, they shrink in importance to the question of fisheries. That is the point on which this province's interest will be concentrated.

A Park Forever

TO THE AVERAGE PERSON who appreciates the attractiveness of Thetis Lake Park it is a matter of relative indifference which of his governments administers it.

What is important is the fact that the park is there, that it is open to the public and that it should not be reduced in size or spoiled for generations of the future.

The public interest is served not by any huckstering evaluation of the land or water on a dollars and cents basis, as if it were speculative real estate. This is a recreation area which may profit from some restricted and well-planned development work. It is not a potential subdivision to be priced at so much a front foot or an acre.

Because certain members of the City Council have shown a shortsighted attitude toward preservation of a public heritage, it has been suggested that the park be turned over to the Provincial Government to be administered by the department of recreation and conservation parks branch. The assumption here is that its limits would be protected against erosion arising from private deals on the perimeter or against intrusion by commercial interests if the Provincial Government took over from the city.

Ready Aid for the Stricken

NATIONS IN A POSITION TO give immediate help have rushed aid to the quake victims of Agadir, Morocco. Here, once more, is an illustration of the quick response humanity furnishes those in need when disaster strikes. This is one of the inspiring entries in the ledger of man's behavior towards his fellow men.

It is not surprising that in this fine and effective display of concern for those in grief and trouble a leading part is being taken by 50 doctors and nurses of the League of Red Cross Societies. They were engaged in treating paralyzed victims of cooking oil adulteration in Morocco when the quake, tidal wave and fire struck Agadir.

The reaction of the Red Cross team, its decision to lose no time in getting to the place where it could do the most good, is virtually an automatic reflex. That is what the Red Cross is for in the disaster field.

That is the case advanced by conservation interests, as demonstrated by the letter published elsewhere on this page today.

If an irrevocable guarantee could be given by the Provincial Government that the whole area would be reserved as park land and freed from the threat of invasion by other than recreation seekers, the plan to place it under provincial jurisdiction would be excellent.

Conceivably such a guarantee might be given, although the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council can and does grant right-of-way and concessions in parks.

Should the Provincial Government be unable to give assurance of protection, then the city should retain the property under terms which make the region inviolable.

The protests against any alienation of park land at Thetis have been vigorous. That attitude will be strengthened as the years go by and a larger population has greater reason to protect such areas.

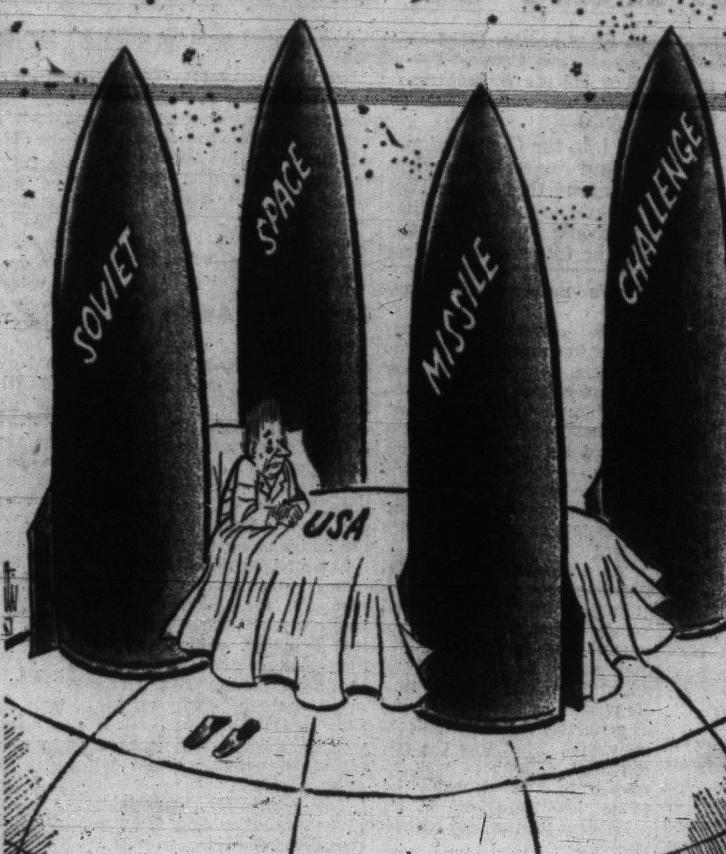

It is ridiculous to talk of selling the park at so much per acre. It is dangerous to permit any interest to buy part of it, because once a section of the park is alienated, later attempts will be made to alienate more on the precedent thus created.

While it covers a much wider area of service, its disaster work is one of its most dramatic activities.

No more emphatic proof of the worth of the agency could be provided at this time as centres on this continent observe March as Red Cross month. In Greater Victoria the current campaign for support has fixed a target of $79,000. On the basis of earlier drives, this community will more than fill its quota.

The Red Cross has every right to expect such backing. What its doctors and nurses are doing at Agadir is a sample of disaster relief. Closer to home, Victorians know the value of the blood clinic, the home nursing service and a number of other functions which the agency undertakes for the good of the community and the individual here as elsewhere on the continent and throughout the world.

Insomnia

LAST NIGHT ON THE TOWN

By STUART KEATE

Beautiful, Old and Elegant

Times publisher Stuart Keate was one of a party of 70 Canadian and Mexican editors who flew to Lisbon and Rome on the inaugural flight of a new Canadian Pacific Airlines service. This is the third of a series of informal impressions.

ROME—An excellent buy for anyone planning a trip to Europe this year is Temple Fielding's travel guide.

You can pick up the 1960 edition at almost any Victoria book-store for $6. It will pay for itself in a day.

Fielding, a jaunty American who now lives on the Mediterranean island of Mallorca, pulls no punches in this book. He tells you about the good places, and the bad. He warns you of the local rackets, tells you how much to tip, and what to take for an upset stomach. (Fernet Branca, which tastes like pectoral, but works with atomic frenzy, and will have you feeling fine in half an hour.)

All this is a preamble to saying that Fielding's book rendered us a rare service last night.

Pleasantly relaxed after a day of sight-seeing, in which we had covered the Pantheon, St. Peter's, the Michelangelo carving of Moses and the Colosseum, we came to the horrible realization that we had just one more night on the town. Where to dine?

"This," said Craig Ballantyne, the engaging editor of Weekend magazine, "should be an event. Let us do some research."

Best of All

We retired to my room at the Metropole hotel and spent half an hour studying Mr. Fielding. He stated flatly that the best restaurant in Rome—if not in the world—was a place called Hostaria dell'Orso, which was Dante's former home.

"It is beautiful," he wrote, "it is old, and it is supremely elegant." He predicted that the meal would cost $7.

We repaired to the spot in one of those lively little Italian taxicabs, manned by a jehu whose ancestors must have piloted Ben Hur's chariots.

The Hostaria, it turned out, was a comparatively new place, built about 1300. St. Francis of Assisi once stayed there. Dante lived in it as a pilgrim during the Jubilee year. Among its other guests down through the years were Rabelais, Goethe and Montaigne.

Today it is three clubs combined in one building. On the lower floor is the intimate little Blue Bar, warmed by a cheering grate, and with an Italian troubador tinkling a piano in the background.

The second floor is the main restaurant—three richly decorated, candlelit rooms, with a superb trio and a grand piano adorned by a bowl of lilies with stems at least four feet long.

Upstairs, on the top floor, is the finest night club in Europe. Behind the bar at the entrance is a striking nude, executed by a pupil of Giorgione.

Margaret's Party

This was the place which was taken over, basement to roof, by a young Italian prince at the time of Princess Margaret's visit to Rome. It is said that they danced until 5 o'clock in the morning and gave Margaret one of the very best parties of her life.

I suppose, in this jet age, one should not be surprised to see a familiar face so far from home—but I confess my eyes boggled slightly when Hope Yarrow of our town swept by our table, stunning in black gown and pearls. (She is now, of course, Lady Taylor, and with Sir Eric had flown in from India for her fourth visit to the Eternal City.)

We had a cognac together and got confirmation from these world travellers of our growing conviction—that this was, indeed, the best restaurant in the world.

And what do Victorians talk about when they meet 8,000 miles from home? Why, about Victoria!

The Taylors wanted the latest word on the progress of the University campaign. And George Warren, listen to this: do you recall that Hope's late husband, Norman Yarrow, was first president of the Automobile Club, which you organized for him?

From far-off Rome she sent you best-wishes for your testimonial dinner on March 31, and promised to show us one day some pictures she has of the Malabar "when it was a single track, about as wide as this table."

Of Interest to Defence Planners

Winnipeg Tribune

THE text of the White paper on defence tabled in the House of Commons at Westminster recently is now available. It is a lucid report on Britain's defence policies.

There are two key paragraphs in the report that should interest Canadian defence planners. Here is one:

"This country makes an important contribution to the preservation of peace by strengthening the nuclear power of the West. This is only one component of the deterrent. Because

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MR. JAMES COYNE'S recent speech at Winnipeg has been generally considered important as a financial document. But surely it is even more important as a human document. For the first time since the storm of words hit us three years ago a man in high office has been able to bring the bewildering facts of finance down to the level of the ordinary human being. Where Hutchison most of the clamorous politicians have failed, a reticent banker has achieved not only a policy of finance but a breakthrough in communication. And the simple act of communication may well be more valuable in the end than the technical operations of the Central Bank.

In the retrospect of three years it is clear that the gravest failure of Canadian Government was not in finance itself (though that was grave enough to frighten every man who owns a dollar) but in truthful contact with the public mind.

There both governments, Liberal and Conservative, failed equally, though in opposite ways and with opposite motives.

WHEN the storm began Canada had in Mr. Harris an able finance minister, his abilities recognized only now as Mr. Fleming desperately tries to revive his predecessor's policies. But Mr. Harris, succeeding in finance, failed in communication. He could not explain to the ordinary man what he was doing and why.

Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that he hardly tried to explain because he didn't see the need of explaining facts so obvious. He rated the public's knowledge of finance too high, the confusion of his critics too low.

Both politically and financially that was a tragic mistake. For while the Government remained mute so far as the ordinary man was concerned, or talked in strictly correct language incomprehensible to him, the Conservative party was talking in another earthly language comprehensible to everybody.

TO be sure, the language turned the facts upside down but the people could grasp them, or their distorted shadows. Nobody seemed to notice that the upright, correct facts were being blown away by the hot, demented winds of two election campaigns.

Politics were overwhelmed by semantics. The breakdown of a Government was accompanied and largely caused by a breakdown in communication. Of course there were other reasons for the Government's defeat but that defeat may well have been less significant than the collapse of the truth.

Governments often change without any public damage but when the facts are changed to bewilder the public the damage is likely to be serious. It has taken Mr. Fleming three years to get the facts back on their feet in his own mind. It will take longer to restore them in the public mind, and still longer to impose them on the nation's finances.

Communication, or the beginning of it, had been re-established between the state and the people, not by politicians whose main job is to communicate, but by a banker who had rediscovered that lost art, the language of the common man. Despite all our modern improvements, it is still a useful art. Maybe the politicians ought to study it.

As Our Readers See It

Without Laughter

I really must congratulate your Mr. Cribbens in managing to squeeze so much comedy out of the B.C. Legislature.

After reading his accounts of all the "high jinks" they have, I decided to go there—and spent the dullest afternoon of my whole life. Scarcely a smile from anyone but a lot of snarling and snorted, carpings criticism. Truly Mr. Cribbens must wear colored spectacles—or is he trying to write the great Canadian novel?

Broader Minded

The fact that opposition to such a worthy cause as support to St. Joseph's Hospital is confined to one small group is evidence of the growth of tolerance and the decline of bigotry among English-speaking people in general since Daniel O'Connell forced the repeal of the notorious penal laws 131 years ago.

There is still a die-hard element in the United States known as the PAOU, successor to the earlier and cruder Ku Klux Klan; but the majority are all broad-minded.

But How Does It Work?

Recently at a group discussion on family and juvenile courts, we learned

Thetis Lake Park—We Need It

What is going to happen to Thetis Lake?

If it is to be sold or subdivided then we are selling the future short. Green areas are becoming fewer and fewer. We spend money to engage town planners who stress and advise reserving park areas and green belts. Cities in other parts of Canada are spending millions (Ottawa $56 millions) to acquire parkland or green areas.

Many of these areas already bear the scars of civilization. (In the Vancouver Kitsilano district apartment blocks are being razed and the land converted to parkland.) We have seen in Victoria during the last two decades a steady conversion from wild land to developed subdivisions. There does not remain within the city limits of Victoria one acre of virgin unspoiled land. Victoria needs green areas for a growing population.

The argument that Thetis Park is not in the city is a very weak one. We are lucky that it is not! It is close enough for every Victorian to enjoy, yet by not being within the city limits the cost of maintenance of perimeter and access roads is avoided. Besides a large tract of non-revenue producing land would cut down potential income. Yet it is a necessity.

As increased population forces closer and more congested building, park areas will be more necessary. Sooke Lake is not in the city but it is imperative that it be preserved as a watershed for Victorians. Should we dispose of it because people outside the city derive benefits from it?

The Clock

HER clock was what she wanted, old Mrs. Brown told the other women in the ward. Her little clock from the table next her bed at home.

"Keep asking my daughter to bring it," she said. "I've asked her again and again. But every time she seems to forget. Oh, that old clock, she says. You don't want that old clock, Mother. You know it never did keep time."

"Perhaps she'll bring it in visiting hours today," said Emily Roberts who was new to the ward and had the bed next to Mrs. Brown's.

"She'll not bring it today," Mrs. Brown said bitterly. "She has to take Elsie to Brownies today. You'd think she could miss her Brownies, wouldn't you? But, no, my daughter thinks more of Elsie and her Brownies than she does of her old mother. I said as much to her the other day. Madge, I said, you think more of Elsie than you do of me. You never come near me, I said. You never come near me if you can help it."

"She cried," said Mrs. Brown. "She cried and said it wasn't true, and that I had no call to speak to her that way. She had Harry and the children, too, she said, and there just weren't enough hours in the day. It was running her off her feet, she said."

"What about her daughter?" Emily whispered to the nurse that night when she knew that Mrs. Brown was sound asleep. "She says her daughter never comes to see her, and I haven't been here long enough to know."

The nurse sighed. "It's part of her illness, Mrs. Roberts. Her daughter comes nearly every day, and all Mrs. Brown does is to scold her. It's her illness, of course, but it's most upsetting for her daughter. And, five minutes after her daughter's been here, Mrs. Brown's forgotten that she's been here."

"What about the clock?" Emily whispered.

The daughter brought the clock, the nurse whispered back. "But Mrs. Brown said it wasn't the right one. It didn't tick the same, she said, and made her daughter take it away."

"You alright now, dear?" the nurse added. "Get everything you need?"

"Just fine," said Emily. "And I'm glad I know about the clock."

It was almost 2 o'clock in the morning when Emily woke with a start and heard Mrs. Brown moving her possessions on the table beside her bed.

"It's my clock," Mrs. Brown was saying. "I know I had it here."

"Try to go to sleep," Emily comforted.

But she, herself, couldn't sleep again. Her heart was too full of pity.

With a hospital that cares for mentally disturbed persons. Naturally, there will have to be some places designed to take care of violent persons, or persons who cannot be used in any way in the community.

Of late, there have been so many frightening articles about radiation that people have written me to say that they no longer will allow their dentist to X-ray their teeth. This seems to me quite unjustifiable.

Through the years, most of the old leaders in the use of X-rays in this country have been my close friends. One of them, the late Dr. Walter B. Cannon of Harvard, was the first man—in 1896—to X-ray the digestive tract. Not knowing then that the rays were dangerous, he produced changes in the skin of his wrists and knees, but I doubt if his life was at all shortened by this heavy exposure to radiation.

Several of the pioneers in X-ray work had the skin of their hands badly changed, but by having someone remove the little wart-like patches that occasionally started to become cancerous, they lived into their 60's and 70's. I have known intimately a number of X-ray men who, in a huge clinic, had much exposure to X-rays as, each day in the dark room, they "screened" the stomachs and colons of from 30 to 50 patients. None of them suffered from any disease that could be ascribed to their exposure to X-rays.

Recently, I have quoted articles from several of the leaders in the field of X-ray work, who have warned us against getting excited about the small amount of radiation that one gets from having one's stomach or teeth or chest X-rayed. I, myself, began to study X-rays in 1904, and during the next 10 years I received more radiation than I would care to take today. But, aside from a few changes in the finger-nails of my left hand, I haven't been injured in any way that I can detect.

I was just reading a fine report made by Dr. Norman Simon, from Oak Ridge, Tennessee, who recently wrote that he had made a careful follow-up study of more than 71,000 women who, in 36 medical centres throughout the world, have been treated for cancer of the neck or womb with large doses of radium. He could not find that they had suffered in any way from this treatment with immensely more radiation than is used in making films for diagnostic purposes. This report should now go far to put an end to the recent hysteria over the use of X-rays.

'CURSE' RITUAL FAILS TO WORK ON GRAHAM

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Three African witch doctors tried to "work a curse" on American evangelist Billy Graham, according to reports reaching here.

Graham was speaking Tuesday to a revival meeting of 10,000 persons at Kisumu, on the shores of Lake Victoria, when the witch doctors appeared wearing full tribal dress. At the end of the meeting, the witch doctors—one aged about 90—advanced to within 100 feet of Graham and were believed to have started mumbling the "curse" ritual.

But Graham moved toward them. As they stood silently, he said: "God loves you and Christ died on the cross for you."

TALK RECORD, 9½ HOURS

Senate Leader For Compromise On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Dem., Tex.), worked for a compromise solution on civil rights early today while a southern orator talked for almost 9½ hours.

Senator Russell B. Long (Dem., La.), son of the famed filibuster Huey P. Long, set a record for the current day-and-night Senate debate on civil rights.

He started at 1:32 p.m. Wednesday with a marathon attack on what he called this "bill to crucify the South".

After a break of one hour and 15 minutes for other Senate business he resumed at 4:15 p.m. and didn't sit down until 12:38 a.m. after talking 9 hours 21 minutes.

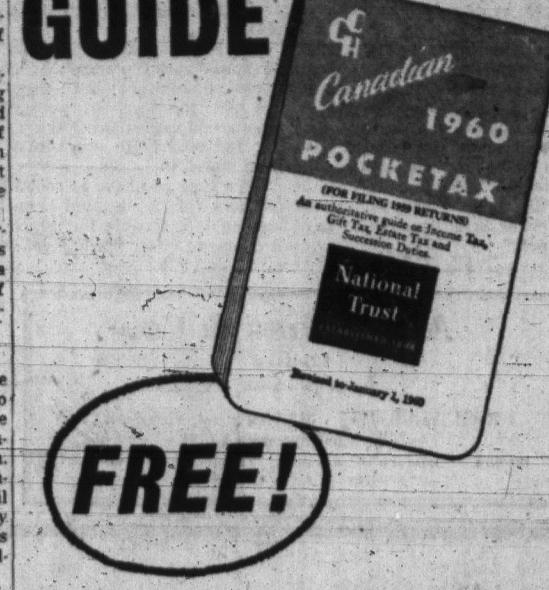

Meanwhile, Johnson was busy rounding up support for a proposed compromise.

HUMPHREY TAKES OVER

Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem., Minn.), a civil rights supporter and presidential hopeful, took the floor for nearly an hour after Long and predicted that Congress would pass what he called a "reasonable and effective" bill. But he included in his proposals some of the points most strongly opposed by the southerners.

Some senators said Johnson was exploring the prospects for bringing out a substitute measure centred around provisions for court-appointed referees to help guard Negro

Social, But Not Workers, Price Tells Legislature

Social workers are strange to hard work and when it comes to being productive, "they just haven't got it," Bert Price (SC-Vancouver-Burrard) said in the legislature Wednesday.

Commenting on his earlier-voiced theory that Oakalla prisoners don't do enough work, Mr. Price said: "There are hundreds of things they could make, but they'd have to have an enterpriser (in charge). You'd never do it with social workers—social worker is a stranger to hard work."

"The type you have as social workers may go around helping people in trouble, but when it comes to being productive—Welfare Minister W. D. they just haven't got it," said Mr. Price.

Attorney-General Bonner said activities at Oakalla range from pig and cattle raising through knitting, making licence plates, and bookbinding.

He said the prisoners even undertook to build a gymnasium. He said prison authorities know what happens to idle hands.

"I'm disappointed in the member for Vancouver-Burrard," said Gordon Dowling (CCF-Burnaby). "I'm shocked and most unhappy," said CCF Leader Robert Strachan.

"This is bad for the civil service," said Mr. Dowling. He quoted the civil service annual report which said the social workers' record was "beyond all praise," and said the members should not "unfairly and unjustly run down government employees."

"Nothing like that was intended, I am sure," said Mr. Bonner.

BUT OTTAWA MUST PAVE WAY FOR INDIANS

LEGISLATURE IN SESSION TONIGHT?

There will be another night sitting tonight if the House doesn't manage to wade through the labor department and commercial transport estimates this afternoon, Attorney-General Robert Bonner warned Wednesday.

If there is delay, most observers feel it will come in the labor estimates when the CCF opposition is expected to take another kick at the new Trade Unions Act—the Bill 43 of the last session.

The legislature dealt with department of trade and industrial development estimates in a short half-hour Wednesday.

He said the prisoners even undertook to build a gymnasium. He said prison authorities know what happens to idle hands.

"I'm disappointed in the member for Vancouver-Burrard," said Gordon Dowling (CCF-Burnaby). "I'm shocked and most unhappy," said CCF Leader Robert Strachan.

"This is bad for the civil service," said Mr. Dowling. He quoted the civil service annual report which said the social workers' record was "beyond all praise," and said the members should not "unfairly and unjustly run down government employees."

"Nothing like that was intended, I am sure," said Mr. Bonner.

B.C.-Wide Liquor Vote Backed

Attorney-General Robert Bonner Wednesday indicated the B.C. government would move to extend full liquor rights to Indians as a method of avoiding similar disturbances.

"Twice the mayor of Prince Rupert has written the attorney-general's department asking what action had been taken and twice he has been told the department is still studying the question."

Mr. Bonner said his department has investigated and acted on some phases of the Rupert committee's report. Certain practices by beer vendors "loading tables and loading patrons" have been discontinued.

The attorney-general was also questioned by several members on complaints by beer parlors regarding sale of beer in 10-cent glasses, and some hotels don't sell glasses.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan recalled the recent riot at Prince Rupert apparently stemmed from beer parlor regulations. A citizen's committee at Prince Rupert recommended full liquor rights for Indians as a method of avoiding similar disturbances.

Gordon Dowling (CCF-Burnaby) said he had complaints from housewives regarding the attempts by hotel owners to have the dinner-time closing of beer parlors abolished.

He urged this not be permitted or some husbands "would never come home at all" for dinner.

Tom Uphill, Independent member for Fernie, spoke in favor of the Hotelmen's Association's request for longer hours.

Fewer Accidents
Though More Cars

Although crime increased in the city last year, there was an encouraging drop all along the line in traffic accident totals despite more cars on the road.

The 1959 statistics, with 1958 ones in brackets, reported to the city police commission: Traffic fatalities, five (seven); accidents causing injuries, 273 (297); persons injured, 353 (383); and accidents causing property damage, 845 (865).

During last year, the number of vehicle registrations in Greater Victoria rose by 3,187 to a total of 53,721.

BONNER DEFENDS RCMP

Police Brutality Charged By CCFers; Probe Sought

A special continuing commission should be established to investigate accusations of police brutality throughout B.C. when they are laid. Cyril Shelford (S.C., Omineca) said in the House Tuesday.

Tony Gargrave (CCF, MacKenzie) said he had a recent case in Vancouver when a one-armed man charged he was beaten by police, should be re-opened and submitted to the Supreme Court. Such action he felt would clarify the position of citizens and police officers in arrests involving violence.

Both members were speaking in the legislature during consideration of the attorney-general's estimates.

BOARD REQUESTED

Mr. Shelford asked for a three-man board after outlining an incident at Burns Lake last week involving a family of five Indians who were jailed after an RCMP officer in civilian dress attempted to arrest one of them for drunkenness.

He said one of the family, Jimmy Donald, 69, received a broken arm in the fight. Mrs.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Colwood RCMP court Wednesday:

Walter Robert Reid, 670 Pine, $25 and $3.50 costs for careless driving.

Stanley Ross Sutcliffe, 2420 Bowker, $25 and $3 costs for speeding over 50.

Robert James Couldwell, 403 Raynor, $25 and $3 costs; Thomas Leonard White, 3281 Happy Valley, $15 and $3 costs, for speeding over 30.

Barry Sutton Irher, 2520 Wentwich, $10 and $3 costs for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Irina Morgan, Parry Road, $10 and $3 costs for crossing a double solid centre line.

Mr. Bonner said he had started an enquiry into the case and would report on it later. He did not comment on Mr. Shelford's proposal for a brutality commission. He added his department takes serious view of any such incidents.

"The police force has to be scrupulously fair in dealing with the public and often segments of the public behave in a most extraordinary way," said the attorney-general. He noted there are many cases where police are beaten in carrying out their duties.

William Rose, director of Social Credit Research Team here, said in a submission to the legislature's committee on the effects of automation that $691,000,000 in new money has been created annually and placed in the lending funds of banks.

Nobody who had excess capacity and top-heavy inventory in relation to consumer buying power could borrow the money "so you get widespread unemployment."

He said the dividend would increase the gross national product — the value of goods and services in the country — by 3 to 5 per cent annually.

Goods would move into consumption and create full demand for labor.

The national consumer dividend is the only way out unless we want the state to become the major employer, making work by building pyramids or waging war."

Unless the problem of consumer buying power was solved first, there was no way of measuring the existence of technological unemployment.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association said in its brief that automation means evolution, not revolution. Automation was essential for B.C. to maintain its position and an expanding economy.

'Germany Still To Be Feared'

Ottawa (CP) — A Jewish senator declared Wednesday that Germany is "up to its old tricks" and cannot be trusted.

It was "very obvious that here was West Germany going into Spain and here was Krupp invited to Spain for the purpose of setting up an arms factory, and here was a scheme that was being planned behind the backs of the NATO allies," said Senator David Croll (L. Ontario).

NO WATER PISTOLS

"You cannot trust Germany with a slingshot, a popgun or a water pistol," he said. "Some how they will make a war weapon out of it."

"We thought we had disinfected and deodorized her," said Senator Croll, "but we find that as her strength grows, so does her arrogance."

He was discussing the future that arose in Western capitals last week over news that West Germany had approached Spain seeking to obtain military supply depots on Spanish territory.

RAPS GREEN

Senator Croll strongly criticized External Affairs Minister Green for continuing to accept German and Spanish denials of the reports even after they had been largely confirmed by the Bonn government.

He said it was a "come-down" for Canada that the move should have been disclosed here through newspaper reports rather than through NATO diplomatic channels.

Senator Croll said it was obvious that Germany's real purpose was "to secure facilities to test strategic weapons in secret."

He expressed fear that a rearmed Germany "may well plunge Europe into disaster."

In another year, according to present schedule, West Germany would have more troops in NATO than all the other members combined.

HAS MISSILES

It also had 1,000 supersonic bombers, and two different kinds of missiles capable of hitting Russia.

The United States had announced a policy of supplying nuclear warheads to reliable allies. "In the view of the Pentagon," Senator Croll added, "Germany is reliable."

"Germany is not to be trusted and still to be feared," he said.

Canada Joins Rebuke by NATO

Ottawa (CP) — Canada has rebuked West Germany for its European NATO partner's secret negotiations to obtain supply depots in Spain.

Informants said Wednesday the rebuke was administered in the NATO permanent council in Paris by Canadian representatives as well as spokesmen of several other NATO countries.

SHOULD CONSULT

It is understood that the council will issue a special communiqué saying, in effect, that West Germany should have consulted all its alliance partners before initiating negotiations with Spain.

The issue may be taken up personally by the foreign ministers themselves at the NATO meeting in Istanbul, Turkey, May 2, which External Affairs Minister Green plans to attend.

Building Missiles In Spain'—U.K. MP

LONDON (Reuters) — Labor MP Robert Edwards said Wednesday he hoped "to produce evidence at the opportune moment" that a West German company is building missiles in Spain.

Edwards was commenting on a statement made in Bonn Wednesday by a spokesman of Wasag Chemie, which he said was the postwar successor to the I.G. Farben cartel. The Wasag spokesman said his company made explosives in Spain but no missiles.

THREE SOURCES

Edwards countered: "My information has led me to believe that Wasag is producing rockets for the West German and Spanish armies."

More Alcohol Education Urged

More education to combat the evils of drink was urged in the legislature Wednesday by John Tisdale, Social Credit member for Saanich.

"I am not against alcohol only the effects of it," he declared.

Mr. Tisdale said there are 30,000 known alcoholics in British Columbia and they involve considerable wastage of time, money and labor in the way of hospitals, clinics and medical services.

He suggested the high divorce rate in B.C. could also be blamed to some extent on the high incidence of alcoholism.

"Alcoholism demands a more respectable attitude and concern among the people of this province; it should not be regarded with a light-hearted outlook."

PENAL REFORM

Mr. Tisdale also called for reform of British Columbia's penal institutions.

"I question whether any person has ever benefited from being incarcerated," he said. "We have created prisons for punitive purposes rather than for rehabilitation of wrong-doers."

He mentioned the case of a man who was sent to jail 14 times in 10 years for recurrent offences and quoted one B.C. judge as saying: "I should be wearing a white gown instead of a black one."

Marcel Had to Work While Cougars Romped

Cats Continue Goal Spree In 9-2 Win Over Warriors

Cougars 9, Warriors 2

By DOUG PEDEN

Don't look too soon, but Victoria Cougars may have shifted their scoring machinery into high gear just in time to hit the Western Hockey League play-offs at full speed.

Although two games don't prove the case, there is a feeling in Cougarsville, today that the Cats, second-lowest scoring outfit in the seven-team loop despite the presence of several sniping aces, have finally burst loose.

Cougars, who came home from a rugged seven-game road trip to thump the front-running Vancouver Canucks 8-4 last Saturday, did even better at Memorial Arena Wednesday night.

Flexing their biggest scoring muscles before 3,401 "Shrine Night" fans, the Cougars blasted four goals in each of the first two periods and coasted to a 9-2 triumph over Winnipeg Warriors, making it 17 goals in two games.

Victory lifted the Cats back into a third-place tie with Edmonton Flyers, three points back of the runner-up Seattle Totems, who kept pace Wednesday night.

It may be just a little more than coincidence that the Cats have been flying in the two games since Paul Masnick, who makes a habit of playing his best hockey late in the season, was acquired from Winnipeg.

Fitting in on the top Victoria line with Gordie Fashaway and Art Jones, Masnick picked up a pair of assists in his Victoria debut last Saturday and chipped in with a goal and a pair of assists in front of the Shriners. In the two games, the unit has collected 15 points, including four goals.

Defencemen Found Good Shooting

"Shrine Night" turned out to be a great night for Victoria defencemen, as far as shooting was concerned. They opened and closed the scoring and ended up with four goals, two of them by Jim Hay.

Jack Blonds needed only 44 seconds to get the Cats out in front with a quick long shot that fooled goalie Ray Mikulan and Hay made it 2-0 two minutes later. Hay fired his third goal of the campaign in the second session and Ron Matthews threw in the only goal of the third period with just over one minute remaining.

Firing bull's-eyes for the forwards were George Ford, who notched his 18th and 19th goals of the campaign. Art Jones, hitting his 30th, Gordie Haworth, with his 23rd, and two of them by Jim Hay.

Managing to get shots behind Victoria's Marcel Pelletier, both in the first period, were Gerry Brisson and Ray Brunel.

Although they did right well in the shooting department, the Cats, possibly because of goal-hunger and the sight of an easy victory, were no great shakes on defence.

Marcel Stopped 22 In Last Period

Rearguards were getting caught out of position, some forwards eased up on back-checking chores and the result was that Pelletier had himself a busy evening. The Winnipeg defence looked even worse but if Mikulan had been as sharp as Marcel, it might have been a neck-and-neck struggle down the home stretch.

Over the route, the Warriors actually outshot the Cougars 42-39 yet Pelletier closed the door through the last 45 minutes. Proving once again that he is at his best when busiest, Marcel was tremendous as he stopped 22 shots in the third period, more than half his total for the game.

Mikulan, who also committed a bit of larceny in the third period, turned aside 30 shots, 10 less than his rival.

Out of the running for a playoff spot, the Warriors played without animosity and referee Willie Papp had an easy night, calling only one minor penalty against each club.

With seven games remaining on their portion of the league schedule, the Cats may get more than an acid test for their scoring punch when the win plus 12th positions in the Olympic downhill and giant slalom gave her the world's slalom and Alpine combined titles as well.

They've Conquered All Fields Now

The Jelineks, Maria, 17, and Otto, 19, who finished fourth in the Olympics, drew 101.5 points and second highest marks from six of the judges. They finished less than a point ahead of Marika Kilius and Hans-Jurgen Baumler of West Germany, Olympic silver medalists who scored 100.7.

Margret Gobl and Franz Ningel of West Germany were fourth with 97.2; Nina and Stanislav Zhuk of Russia fifth with 96.2, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ludington of Boston—bronze winners at the Olympics—sixth with 98.1.

Miss Wagner and Paul had barely caught their breath after their performance when they indicated they might retire. "It's not definite," said Miss Wagner. "But there's nothing left for us to win. The Olympics was the last big one for us and we've got it now, too." She said, however, that they have no immediate plans to turn professional.

Their immediate plans call for skating performances in Toronto, a nine-day tour of Germany for exhibitions, an exhibition in Boston and "then two months of sleep."

"I don't think I've caught up on my sleep in 4½ years," said Barbara, who acts as spokesman for the couple. "It's a great relief to know it's all over."

The Jelineks, who as political refugees made a dramatic escape from Czechoslovakia in 1948 and came to Canada with their parents soon after, were elated over their placing.

WORLD SKATING FINISH SLATED FOR TELEVISION

A snag for all applicants

'Winter Capital' Title Goes With Games Site

CALGARY (CP) — A spirited battle appears to be shaping up for the site of the 1968 Winter Olympics.

Sportsmen in Calgary, Vancouver and Montreal—excited by visions of international prestige and tourist millions—want the 1968 Olympics in Canada.

So far only those in Calgary have taken a hard look at the immense problems involved.

But there has been increasing talk of a Vancouver or Montreal application.

The federal government would be in the middle of any argument, since millions in public money would pour into an Olympic site.

Stakes are far higher than the international glory. The Canadian centre getting the Games would have an unrivaled position as the winter sports capital of Canada.

Canada stands an excellent chance of getting the Games. Since the 1964 Winter Olympics will be held in Innsbruck, Austria, the next Games should go to a site in the Western Hemisphere. Canada would be the leading contender as the United States got the 1960 Games.

Vancouver Offers More Spectators

Calgary businessmen, with could be that Olympic officials favor a single site. At Squat Valley, this meant an outlay of $1,000,000 for Blyth Arena, a rink which may never be used again.

Calgary-Banff might hold the edge in getting federal funds since Ottawa has spent millions developing good roads, ski runs and an Olympic-standard ski jump in Banff National Park. The Banff School of Fine Arts, a residential adult education centre, could house 1,000 athletes. Summer hotels could be opened to house the press and officials—but only at immobile cost.

Vancouver's big talking point would be that it could muster twice the number of spectators as Calgary. And it is close to the big cities of the United States northwest. However, a Garibaldi site would have to be built from the ground up—an even bigger job than that undertaken at Squat Valley, where the cost was $20,000,000, largely in public funds.

Bonner Evades Sommers Issue

A CCF attempt to bring up the Sommers case again in the legislature was evaded by Attorney-General Robert Bonner Wednesday.

Tony Gargrave (CCF-MacKenzie) said because there was not some court action under way or pending it was the first time the minister could explain reasons for alleged delays in handling the case of former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, now jailed on bribery charges.

Mr. Gargrave said "the jury was divided on some of those charged," and at the end of the Sommers trial Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson said in fairness to the accused, those not convicted should be retried soon.

Later the attorney-general indicated the cases would not be reopened. Mr. Gargrave wanted to know why action was not pursued against certain persons and certain firms.

Mr. Bonner replied to him later in the afternoon:

"The matter was disposed of in the supreme court of Canada. Members will recall that a year ago, I made very full statements on this subject. I do not propose to add to them at this time."

Money Belonging To Mental Cases Held By Province

Money belonging to patients committed to mental hospitals is deposited with the provincial treasury and credited to them, Attorney-General Robert Bonner told the legislature Wednesday.

Answering a question from Rae Eddie (CCF-New Westminster), Mr. Bonner said after the patient had been in hospital nine months it was policy to call in all assets of the estate.

"This is done to protect the patient in the event of early discharge and rehabilitation in which case moneys and assets are refunded to him."

Mr. Bonner said his department would be glad to help in apprehending this type of offender.

"But we are handicapped because we do not get notice of these thefts until long after they have happened."

To the Times oak tree contest? No... as a matter of fact we're sending the snap of this to Playboy Magazine."

MONTE ROBERTS

All constituents who have been holding their collective breath until the Real Truth about Fiddler's Green was revealed may now breathe easy.

I am pleased to announce the facts have been unveiled, and the reason the now-dusty parking lot behind City Hall is called Fiddler's Green can be made public.

The informant in this matter is Major M. Kirkpatrick Crockett, former land commission agent for the City of Victoria, now living in well-deserved retirement.

His testimony refutes claims of two colleagues on the Times who both claimed to have been the first to call this now-barren area Fiddler's Green.

(I won't mention who they are, because one is the editor of this newspaper, and the other an associate editor. I happen to like them here.)

Here is Major Crockett's information:

Circa 1927-28, the late E. S. "Mitch" Michell was employed in the city purchasing office.

"Mitch" was an ex-RN type, with a fluent command of sea-going language.

At that time, says Major Crockett, the parking lot of today was actually a patch of greenward. And "Mitch" one day looked out his office window, at the back of City Hall and said, "Blow me if that isn't Fiddler's Green."

The word passed throughout City Hall, and all employees began referring to the back lot as Fiddler's Green.

Until the great public works program of Mayor Andy McGavin's time, when there became installed in the area stations, citizens for the comfort of.

So Fiddler's Green is no longer green. But it is still a useful piece of land, in which citizens can collect parking tickets, among other things.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Five floats will be entered in this year's Victoria Day parade by the navy to celebrate its 50th anniversary.

They will tell the story of the R.C.N.'s growth from sail-and-steam warships in 1910 to today's sleek atomic age destroyer escorts.

Greater Victoria Celebrations Association chairman, Ald. Geoffrey Edgerton Wednesday said one of the best parades ever is shaping up as businesses, municipalities and their employees pitch in to build floats for the May 23 event.

The breakwater extends from Turkey Head near Oak Bay Bonthouse almost to Mary Island.

New Ferry Flies At Final Sea Trial

The new provincial government ferry MV Sidney, built by Victoria Machinery Depot, underwent final sea trials in Juan de Fuca Strait Wednesday.

TAXPAYER'S DOLLAR

At sea. MLAs, their wives and civic and provincial officials will be guests.

Wednesday's final trials proved satisfactory, according to VMD officials, although there are still mechanical bugs to be ironed out, especially in the heavy vibration of the ship at some speeds.

STOPPED: 37 TIMES

Officials of the Toll Bridges and Highways authority, which will operate the ship on the Sidney-Tsawwassen service, expressed satisfaction with her performance.

During the trials the Sidney was stopped and started 37 times in quick succession, went full astern at 12 knots, and from hard astboard to hard aport in 13 seconds. At full speed her turning radius was 250 yards with an angle of heel of 2½ degrees.

Acceptance ceremony will take place aboard the Sidney Friday between 9 and 11:30 a.m.

Sabotage 'Out' In Fire Aboard Hydrograph Ship

Possibility of sabotage was ruled out today after a $2,000 fire gutted two cabins Wednesday night aboard the government hydrographic survey ship Marabell.

Investigation disclosed the blaze started in a locked cabin and spread to an adjoining cabin.

"There is no evidence whatsoever of the fire being deliberately started," said a spokesman for Yarrow's Ltd.

Cause of the outbreak was still not known today.

The vessel was tied up at Yarrow's where electrical work was being done in the engine room.

Smoke was so intense firemen from Esquimalt and HMC Dockyard were forced to use masks.

NOT 'CADDY' OR 'COWIE' BUT 'WILFRED'

Island Lake Monster Identified

BY DON INGHAM

The Times erred in a story a week ago regarding a water rather lake-serpent being fished for in Cowichan Lake by A. E. Johnson of Honey moon Bay.

The story referred to the monster somewhat facetiously as "Caddy," or his cousin "Cowie."

Both names are wrong, according to George V. Jarvis, 810 Byng.

"His real name is Wilfred," Mr. Jarvis said today.

HAD WITNESS

He ought to know. He was on a hunting trip at the lake in 1928 with Dr. H. C. Gill, 3008 Cadboro Bay, well-known city dentist, when the monster made his first official appearance.

Mr. Jarvis said they had camped on Bear Lake, an indentation of the main lake, and one night could hear fish jumping in the bay and a large body splashing in the water. They thought it was a large otter and Dr. Gill called it "Wilfred."

SIX YARDS AWAY

"The next morning we went off in the boat to Mesachie Mountain to hunt, when this thing lifted its head out of the water six yards from the boat," Mr. Jarvis said.

Dr. Gill said "Look George, there's Wilfred," and I fumbled for my shotgun and buckshot shells. But he sank before I could get the gun ready."

The monster was described as "all snake" in shape and color. Two glaring eyes, dark grey-green body 35 feet long, and thick as a man's body in the largest section visible. It later was seen by others, both native Indians and whites working and holidaying at the lake.

Mr. Jarvis said it raised 12 to 13 feet of its length from the water at one time.

It was burned and opened successfully.

There were burns on the second safe, located at the front of the building in the manager's office, but it was not opened.

All desks in the plant were ransacked and a liquor cabinet opened, but nothing appeared to be missing from it, police were told.

Last week about $530 was taken from Victoria Beverage Ltd., 2941 Bridge, in a similar safe-breaking where the back of the safe was chopped open.

Three Victoria juveniles were each fined $25 and $3 costs, the first for failing to stop at a stop sign, and the others for speeding over 50 miles an hour.

One of the juveniles was prohibited from driving for one year, the other for two years.

NO LICENCE PLATES

A Metchosin boy was fined $25 and $3 costs for driving without licence plates, and another Colwood youngster was fined $15 and $3 costs with a six-month licence suspension for speeding over 15 miles an hour.

In adult court, 10 people appeared but only nine cases proceeded.

The unusual number of juvenile cases caused regular court delay of about 40 minutes.

Mr. Dawes and David Mathews, president B.C. Amateur Athletic Association, were to lunch with cabinet and discuss possibilities of bringing the 1968 Winter Olympics to B.C. and Garibaldi Park.

George Masters appealed today to the public to note changes in the federal income tax regulations last year which state payments by the province are no longer deductible for income tax purposes.

"Recent amendments to the income tax act state that hospital payments under the federal-provincial hospital insurance plan would no longer be deductible effective January 1, 1959."

Taxpayers may still deduct payments to hospitals under private hospital plans, in rare cases where hospitalization is not covered by B.C.H.S.

The Sidney will be delivered to the government Friday with the ceremony taking place at sea.

MLAs, their wives and civic and provincial officials will be guests.

Wednesday's final trials proved satisfactory, according to VMD officials, although there are still mechanical bugs to be ironed out, especially in the heavy vibration of the ship at some speeds.

Girls, Go Shag This Spring!
You'll Love These Sets

By PENNY SAVER

More and more ex-teens are following example of their young sisters by investing in comfortable shag sweaters that are warm as toast and look like a million dollars! Shaggy Shetland cardigans that have just arrived in a downtown store have color combinations and styling that make them absolutely irresistible.

Double-breasted cardigans have generous V-necklines and come in colored stripes of azure heather and black, coral heather and grey or fern heather and black.

Made of 100 per cent nylon, cardigans come in small, medium and large sizes and sell for $7.95. Others in same color combinations are single-breasted with an added lapel effect on the V neckline. These, too, sell for $7.95.

To complete your ensemble there are matching tailored skirts that sell for $4.95. These are straight styled with small kick pleat at the back.

Holiday trips are being planned now that spring is almost here. If the man of the house has a birthday coming up soon, why not get him a handy shoe shine kit to take along? He'll love ones I've seen this week.

Six-inch barrel-shaped case of English tan leather holds two brushes, cleaning cloth and tin of brown and black polish. Case is beautifully finished and has a sturdy clip fastener. Price is $4.50.

Another travelling aid that will be just as popular with women as well as men is combination clothes brush and shoe horn that sells at $2.95. Both brush and horn are backed in soft pigskin. Clothes brush has a chrome stirrup handle and shoe horn clips on back of brush.

Shoe horns, cased in English pigskin, can also be bought separately. Starting at $1.25 and going up to $2.95 for large 16-inch horn, they all have stirrup handles for easy hanging.

DEAR ABBY

By All Means—Don't!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If my hair isn't put up in pincurls every night, it looks terrible the next day. I plan to be married next month. Can I go to bed with my hair up in pincurls or do you think my husband will be mad? I can't have permanent because my hair is very fine and it will fuzz. Thank you.

STRAIGHT HAIR:

DEAR STRAIGHT HAIR: If you must put your hair up in pincurls, do it in the daytime. Let the milkman see you. Let the mailman see her and let the Fuller brush salesman and the lady next door see you. But—don't let your hubby see you looking like a skinned kitten if you can help it.

DEAR ABBY: To Too Nice and to all the girls who wonder if it pays to stay nice, may I give my experience:

I was 20 when I started to go steady with the sweetest little girl in town. I had known her all my life. She had no use for necking or spooning as other girls I had known. I went along with her ideas until one dark night while we were sitting under an apple-tree at her place I let her know what I expected of a girl. I spent money on.

She jumped up in a rage and kicked me in the face, breaking one of my front teeth off. Then she ran into the house and opened the front door and threw out my hat and coat.

I wrote to her twice but she returned my letters unopened. Then, I went away for two years. When I returned home she sent word through my sister that she wanted to see me. She gave me another chance and a romance blossomed. Yes, we were married. We had two daughters and a son.

I am the only one left of our family, Abby, and I am soon to be 87. When I want a laugh I recall the many times our marriage when I'd get out of line and my wife would say, "Calm down, darling, or I'll kick your other teeth out." Then we were sweethearts again.

Mrs. Robert D. Harvey, left, returned to the city this week warmly enthusiastic over hospitality, southern style, she was accorded in Birmingham, Alabama. With her is Mrs. Fred Nielsen, her hostess in the southern city, and a friend of long standing.

United States Interested In Canada Council Setup

Extreme interest in Canada Council was shown by people of Alabama, Mrs. Robert Harvey, council member, said when she returned from a Festival of Fine Arts in Birmingham.

"Everyone I met and talked to, wished something similar could be organized in the United States," she says.

"There are 7,300 foundations in the States, seven of them with more than a hundred million assets, each, but in many cases distribution is uneven."

"Canada Council's efforts to spread our grants as evenly as possible throughout all regions of Canada appealed to them."

Prior to going to Alabama with a key to the city.

Give India Food Speaker Pleads

India's democracy has a good chance of survival, Elmore Philpott told Women's Canadian Club in the Express Hotel, Wednesday afternoon. "But in its fight for survival it needs all the help we can give," he added.

One way Canada could help is by assisting India to establish a food reserve, he urged. It will never be able to do it on its own and without such a bank it will never get ahead.

"Canada must offer this help freely," the speaker pointed out. "India will never ask for themselves. They are too proud. They will never beg. Nevertheless, they would be eternally grateful if Canada joined the United States in such an offer."

India has made real progress industrially but not quite so good progress in agriculture; it is trying very hard to introduce a birth control program necessary if it is ever to do anything with the population problem, Mr. Philpott said. Politically it has done a "masterly job in 13 years."

"They have a good parliament and they conduct their affairs in a better way than we do," he believed. "They also have an excellent press, though the circulation is small."

Nehru "looks like a mountain above a plain," he said. "The people respect him but there is a curious undercurrent against him, too. He is so powerful that if there is a chance to take him to task, they make the most of it."

This hostility is not against Nehru as a person—"he holds a strong position amongst the people"—but rather against the Congress party that many now consider as "grafters and crooks."

The Congress party has lost the respect of a large part of India," Mr. Philpott believed, "but there is no visible alternative."

Speaker was introduced by club president, Mrs. R. G. McKee and thanked by Mrs. Alan J. Campbell.

ADJUDICATOR IMPRESSED BY STANDARD

'Great Credit to Teachers' In School Drama Festival

By AUDREY JOHNSON

"This festival reflects great credit on the teachers and the Greater Victoria school system," Francis Hardwick declared Wednesday night.

His comment came at the conclusion of the second evening program of three one-act plays in the Greater Victoria Schools Drama Festival.

Host school on this occasion was Mount View High.

After another full day of adjudication — the afternoon session took place at Gordon Head School — Prof. Hardwick was more than ever impressed by the generally high standard achieved.

"IMAGINATION" By Warren Beck Presented by Gordon Head Elementary School — Cast — John Forsberg, Gary Johnson, Patrick McMilligan, Shirley Parkhouse, Jennifer Andrew, Director, David Allan Assistant Director, Mrs. A. W. McMilligan

The adjudicator found this entry well cast and well produced. He felt the author expected the cast to squeeze all the drama possible out of the play. The children had succeeded in this to a high degree, he said.

Lines had been spoken with tremendous enthusiasm. It had been quite an adult — in fact slick — production, with an outstandingly effortless and smooth performance from Patrick McMilligan, Prof. Hardwick commented.

"NOA'S FLOOD" From Chester Pines "The Deluge" By Anne Macleod Presented by Oaklands Elementary School — Cast — Wendy Glover, Brian Peacock, Gordon Price, Craig Hawkins, Don Tynan, Bonnie Russell, Jacque Fairclough, Miriam Goucher, Linda Pye, Joan Jenkins, Sam Macleod, Anthony Burton

A most appropriate choice for children of this age, the adjudicator declared. He felt also, considering the production problems involved, that it had been an ambitious one.

However he found the problems delightfully solved; the simple setting admirable, a most pleasing blending of colors in set and costumes, stage grouping, excellent. Wendy Glover was commended for projection of lines.

Directed by George Jay Elementary School — Cast — Robert Hammer, John Smith, Mary Smith, Reanne Squires, Anna Louise, Donald Ferguson, Dan Miller, John Thomas, Bill Wilson, Tom Wilson, Linda Leonard, Sandra Goss, Keith McDougal, Barry Payne

Good stage movement and grouping was essential to the success of this piece, the adjudicator said.

The pace had been good and the play moved along well. He praised Joan Forsberg for her princess-like qualities, remarking that she and her ladies-in-waiting had looked very sweet.

"MASCOT OF AEGON" By Robert Davies Presented by Mount View High School — Cast — Harold Williams, Brian Johnson, Forbes Purcell, Bill Wilson, John Turner, Stewart Rivers, Stuart Casey, John Christie, Lars Gronnvold, Vern Pratt, Bruce Cameron, Heather Roberts, Margaret Boyd, Even Gough, Corinne Fessy

This was a real "thriller" and a bit beyond the young actors. Prof. Hardwick commented. It's difficulty would provide a challenge to an experienced group. He liked the simple setting and complimented the cast on its sincere effort.

"THE PARROT ASSASSINATION" By Yves Cabrol Presented by Mount View High School — Cast — Marie-Therese Parrot, Adele Jones, Pierre Dickson, Stéphane Douglas, PHONE EV 2-3175 24 Hours a Day

It requires for the first time the romantic star of "The Millionairess". It tells the most intriguing and provocative story in years. It is a man who wants to be a machine, and an English girl who remembers to be a woman. A fine, suspenseful drama.

"A good end to the evening," the adjudicator remarked of this production. He felt the cast had done very well with a difficult play.

Lighted commendation for her portrayal of an amusing old drunk, but the cast as a whole found favor with the adjudicator.

Plays tonight will be presented at Lansdowne Junior High School, where St. Margaret's School will stage "Confession by Proxy," Lansdowne, "The Willow Plate," and Elizabeth Fisher Junior High, "Rip Van Winkle."

On Friday afternoon, Colquitz Junior High will be hosts and will present two plays, "The Puppet Show" and "Two Crooks and a Lady," the former a non-competing operetta.

THEY 'PRINT WHAT THEY LIKE'

Montreal Ex-Mayor Hits Press

MONTREAL (CP) — Former mayor Jean Drapeau Wednesday night criticized Montreal daily newspapers as "financial institutions in which they print what they want."

Mr. Drapeau was speaking to 125 staff members of the McGill University Daily. He said he has never attacked the editorial page.

What is important is that information in stories be wrong."

Mr. Drapeau said that the fact that Montreal's dailies are becoming fewer — three have ceased to publish in recent years — is "a threat to freedom of information."

These financial institutions are becoming more and more powerful, and controlling all of the media that the citizens need."

'THE TERROR FROM BEYOND SPACE—IT MUST EAT YOU TO LIVE'

Horror Movie Ad Controls Urged by MLA

"hysteria"

Control of gruesome pictures advertising horror movies was urged in the legislature Wednesday by Mrs. Lois Haggen, the CCF member for Grand Forks-Greenwood.

"These advertisements are often much worse than the movies themselves," she declared. "Some of them are absolutely terrifying and must exercise a harmful effect on young minds."

From a bundle of such advertisements on her desk, Mrs. Haggen quoted these titles:

"How to Make a Monster," "Teen-age Cave Men," "The Thing That Couldn't Die," "The Case of the Faceless Man," "The Terror from Beyond Space (It must eat you to live)," "The Brain Eaters."

Mrs. Haggen suggested control of movie advertisements by the B.C. censor of motion pictures during discussion of an estimate of $19,751 for the censor's department, which comes under the attorney-general.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said he would raise the matter with the B.C. censor and suggest some of the exhibitors might review their policy on advertisements.

Bert Price (SC-Vancouver Burrard) urged further control over movies designated "for adult entertainment only."

"Many of them are not even fit for adults," he said; adding that one evening he and his son toured Vancouver and found only one movie that was not "adult entertainment only."

Mr. Bonner said the B.C. censor exercised some influence over movies dealing with sex, but did not have the same control over "plain bad taste."

The public controls them pretty effectively by not going to movies which appear to have been produced in bad taste."

children of her acquaintance suffered "illness and hysteria" after attending what was advertised as a children's matinee of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" (a film version of the classic novel by Robert Louis Stevenson).

Mr. Bonner admitted this film might have a considerable "emotional impact" on children, but said it was no worse in that respect than Grimm's Fairy Tales.

"For sheer unadulterated horror these tales are hard to beat," he said. "I remember the effect they had on me as a child."

However he added, "I am genuinely uneasy about censorship of films, because censorship tends to become ridiculous when censors are given too much latitude."

Estimates for the film censor's department revealed that the censor receives $5,880 a year.

High Flight Berlin Test Delayed

LONDON (Reuters) — The Western powers have decided to postpone resumption of flights above 10,000 feet in the Berlin air corridors, an informed source said today.

The source said such flights by the United States, Britain and France are unlikely in the near future.

The three powers have postponed their approach to the Berlin air safety centre to notify it of such impending flights, the source said.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman in Berlin said this week that Western flying above 10,000 feet would constitute a violation of East Germany's air space.

Earlier the three Western powers were reliably understood to have agreed that further high-altitude flights along the Berlin corridors should be made to maintain the claimed right of passage for aircraft at any height.

Yuri Baburov, chief spokesman of the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin, said this is "good news."

Ike Pledges Co-Operation As Tour Ends

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (CP)—President Eisenhower left for home by air today after condemning "all efforts to undermine the democratic institutions of the hemisphere through coercion, subversion or blatant lies."

There was no repetition of Wednesday's anti-American outbreaks here as the President ended his Latin American tour.

In a brief farewell speech Eisenhower said the United States stands ready to consult with its Latin American "good neighbors" on economic, political, social and security problems both on a bilateral and multilateral basis."

He repeated past assertions that "we wish to see all the Americas progress rapidly."

Addressing all the republics of the Western Hemisphere, Eisenhower pledged firm U.S. adherence to the policy of non-intervention.

The President was in a buoyant mood as he took off for Buenos Aires. There, he changed to his Boeing 707 jet for an all-day flight to Puerto Rico and three days of rest before going on to Washington.

Archie Gibbs Now 'Serious'

Condition of Oak Bay Liberal MLA P. A. "Archie" Gibbs was described today by Royal Jubilee Hospital officials as "serious." Mr. Gibbs had been ill since early January. Following surgery he returned to his home but did not recover sufficiently to return to work and soon was back in hospital.

ECONOMIC FORECAST $8.7 BILLION

OTTAWA (CP)—A record capital investment program of $8,700,000,000 in 1960, up 4 per cent from last year, is forecast for Canada's economy.

If the Canadian proposal was accepted, this country was willing to negotiate on a mutual basis with the United States, France, Spain and Portugal on a time limit for their historic rights in Canadian waters, Green said. A cessation of these rights, however, was the lone point that could be negotiated, he said.

HOPEFUL
Green said he was "hopeful" that a two-thirds majority could be secured for the Canadian proposal for a six-mile territorial limit and 12-mile fishing rights with no provision for historic fishing claims by other nations. He pointed out that it was the long, long time before there's any international agreement," he said. "This would mean that each nation would probably assert its individual claims."

"The result would be chaos as far as a law of the sea is concerned."

The minister told the Commons external affairs committee that the conference scheduled for Geneva later this month, represented something of a last chance for agreement on the subject.

It's our opinion that, if there is no agreement at this conference, it will probably be a long, long time before there's any international agreement," he said. "This would mean that each nation would probably assert its individual claims."

BONNER DEFENDS RCMP

Police Brutality Charged By CCFers; Probe Sought

A special continuing commission should be established to investigate accusations of police brutality throughout B.C. when they are laid, Cyril Shelford (SC, Omineca) said in the House Tuesday.

Tony Gargrave (CCF, MacKenzie) said he felt a recent case in Vancouver when a one-armed man charged he was beaten by police, should be re-opened and submitted to the Supreme Court. Such action he felt would clarify the position of citizens and police officers in arrests involving violence.

Both members were speaking in the legislature during consideration of the attorney-general's estimates.

BOARD REQUESTED

Mr. Shelford asked for a three-man board after outlining an incident at Burns Lake last week involving a family of five Indians who were jailed after an RCMP officer in civilian dress attempted to arrest one of them for drunkenness.

He said one of the family, Jimmy Donald, 69, received a broken arm in the fight, Mrs.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Colwood RCMP court Wednesday:

Walter Robert Reid, 670 Pine, $25 and $3.50 costs for careless driving.

Stanley Ross Sutcliffe, 2420 Bowker, $25 and $3 costs for speeding over 50.

Robert James Couldwell, 403 Raynor, $25 and $3 costs;

Thomas Leonard White, 3281 Happy Valley, $15 and $3 costs, for speeding over 30.

Barry Sutton Imber, 2520 Wentwich, $10 and $3 costs for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Ikrina Morgan, Parry Road, $10 and $3 costs for crossing a double solid centre line.

National 'Dividend' Proposed

A Social Credit researcher Wednesday proposed a national consumer dividend of between $100 and $150 a year per family as a solution to unemployment.

William Rose, director of Social Credit Research Team here, said in a submission to the legislature's committee on the effects of automation that $691,000,000 in new money has been created annually and placed in the lending funds of banks.

Nobody who had excess capacity and top-heavy inventory in relation to consumer buying power could borrow the money "so you get widespread unemployment."

He said the dividend would increase the gross national product—the value of goods and services in the country—by 3 to 5 per cent annually.

Goods would move into consumption and create full demand for labor.

The national consumer dividend is the only way out unless we want the state to become the major employer, making work by building pyramids or waging war.

Unless the problem of consumer buying power was solved first, there was no way of measuring the existence of technological unemployment.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association said in its brief that automation means evolution, not revolution. Automation was essential for B.C. to maintain its position and an expanding economy.

Fewer Accidents Though More Cars

Although crime increased in the city last year, there was an encouraging drop all along the line in traffic accident totals despite more cars on the road.

The 1959 statistics, with 1958 ones in brackets, reported to the city police commission: Traffic fatalities, five (seven); accidents causing injuries, 273 (297); persons injured, 353 (383); and accidents causing property damage, 845 (865).

During last year, the number of vehicle registrations in Greater Victoria rose by 3,187 to a total of 53,721.

IWA delegate Jack Macken Delegates voted to send a telegram to the government letter to Premier Bennett deploring "sitting on the plans" mandating an explanation for until a provincial election is delay in the $2,500,000 project called.

He pointed out the public had subscribed $450,000 towards the cost of the new hospital. Local officials had promised the project would provide work for between 150 and 200 men the next two years.

MONTE ROBERTS

All constituents who have been holding their collective breath until the Real Truth about Fiddler's Green was revealed may now breathe easy.

I am pleased to announce the facts have been unveiled, and the reason the now-dusty parking lot behind City Hall is called Fiddler's Green can be made public.

The informant in this matter is Major M. Kirkpatrick Crockett, former land commission agent for the City of Victoria, now living in well-deserved retirement.

His testimony refutes claims of two colleagues on the Times who both claimed to have been the first to call this now-barren area Fiddler's Green.

(I won't mention who they are, because one is the editor of this newspaper, and the other an associate editor. I happened to like it here.)

Here is Major Crockett's information:

Circa 1927-28, the late E. S. "Mitch" Michell was employed by the city purchasing office.

"Mitch" was an ex-RN type, with a fluent command of sea-going language.

At that time, says Major Crockett, the parking lot of today was actually a patch of greensward. And "Mitch" one day looked out his office window, at the back of City Hall and said, "Blow me if that isn't Fiddler's Green."

The word passed throughout City Hall, and all employees began referring to the back lot as Fiddler's Green.

Until the great public works program of Mayor Andy McGavin's time, when there became installed in the area stations, citizens, for the comfort of.

So Fiddler's Green is no longer green. But it is still a useful piece of land, in which citizens can collect parking tickets, among other things.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Five floats will be entered in this year's Victoria Day parade by the navy to celebrate its 50th anniversary.

They will tell the story of the R.C.N.'s growth from sail-and-steam warships in 1910 to today's sleek atomic age destroyer escorts.

Greater Victoria Celebrations Association chairman, Ald. Geoffrey Edgerton Wednesday said one of the best parades ever is shaping up as business, municipalities and their employees pitch in to build floats for the May 23 event.

Old-Age Pensioners' Association No. 1 will hold a rummage sale Wednesday, March 9, in the Knights of Pythias Hall starting at 10 a.m.

Mount View High School teacher, F. V. Hinch, 3965 Telegraph Bay Road, has left for Toronto where he will attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Dagnan Lie Hinch, Toronto musician, dancer and dramatist who died there Tuesday.

Cold weather was too much for insulation on boiler room steam pipes at Gorge Road Nursing Home today.

With tires turned up to take off the extra chill, insulation caught fire, bringing city firemen to the hospital at 8:25 a.m. There was no further damage.

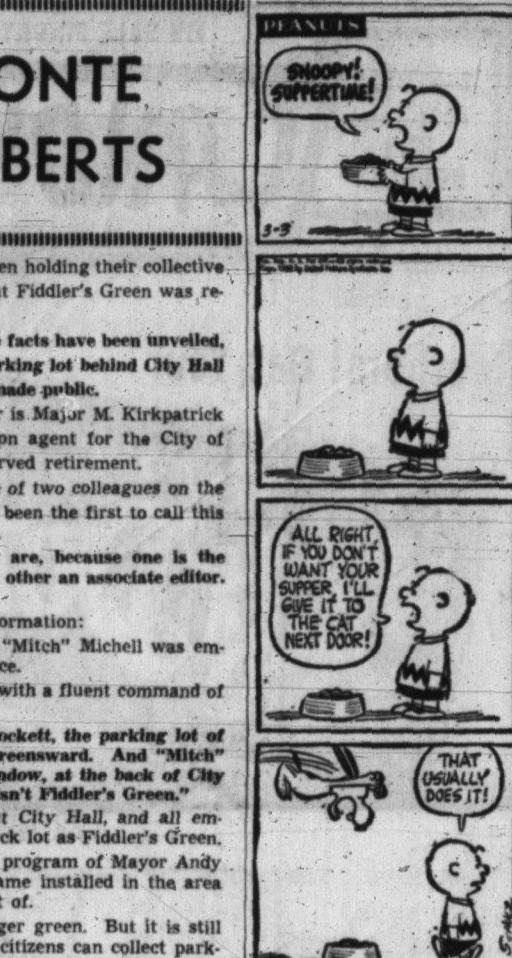

Bert Underwood, Craigflower P.O., was fined $25 and $3 costs when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Wednesday to a charge of having five bottles of beer in a car on Songhees Indian Reserve.

Terry Wilson, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wilson, 321 Creed, is recovering in St. Joseph's hospital today after sustaining a broken leg when hit by a car which didn't stop at the Thetis Lake underpass.

The boy was playing with a friend in the underpass when an outbound small car tumbled him into the ditch.

The driver, carried on as if unaware of the accident.

Reports given Colwood RCMP said the driver wasn't speeding.

Accident Victim Critical

Mill Mishap At Leechtown

A man is reported in critical condition in King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, as a result of an accident this morning at Leechtown operations of Sooke Lake Lumber Ltd. His name had not been released at press time.

He was brought to hospital by Const. Hugh Bowyer, of the RCMP Shawnigan detachment.

Leechtown is on the CNR midway between Milnes Landing and Shawnigan Lake. It is reached by car southward from Shawnigan Lake along the road which passes Sooke Lake.

Four Colwood youths—three aged 17 and one 16—each were fined the maximum penalty of $25 plus $3.50 costs when they pleaded guilty to charges of having liquor in their possession.

Three Victoria juveniles were each fined $25 and $3 costs, the first for failing to stop at a stop sign, and the others for speeding over 50 miles an hour.

One of the latter was prohibited from driving for one year, the other for two years.

NO LICENCE PLATES

A Metchosin boy was fined $25 and $3 costs for driving without licence plates, and another Colwood youngster was fined $15 and $3 costs with a six-month licence suspension for speeding over 15 miles an hour.

In adult court, 10 people appeared—but only nine cases proceeded.

The unusual number of juvenile cases caused regular court delay of about 40 minutes.

Mr. Dawes and David Mathews, president B.C. Amateur Athletic Association, were to lunch with cabinet and discuss possibilities of bringing the 1968 Winter Olympics to B.C. and Garibaldi Park.

NOT 'CADDY' OR 'COWIE' BUT 'WILFRED'

Island Lake Monster Identified

BY DON INGHAM

The Times erred in a story a week ago regarding a lake or rather, lake—serpent being fished for in Cowichan Lake by A. E. Johnson of Honey moon Bay.

The story referred to the monster somewhat facetiously as "Caddy" or his cousin "Cowie."

Both names are wrong, according to George V. Jarvis, 810 Byng.

"His real name is Wilfred," Mr. Jarvis said today.

HAD WITNESS

He ought to know. He was on a hunting trip at the lake in 1928 with Dr. H. C. Gill, 3008 Cadboro Bay, well-known city dentist, when the monster made his first official appearance.

Mr. Jarvis said they had camped on Bear Lake, an indentation of the main lake, and one night could hear fish jumping in the bay and a large body splashing in the water. They thought it was a large otter and Dr. Gill called it "Wilfred."

SIX YARDS AWAY

The next morning we went in the boat to Mésachie Mountain to hunt, when this thing lifted its head out of the water six yards from the boat," Mr. Jarvis said.

"Dr. Gill said 'Look George, there's Wilfred,' and I stumbled for my shotgun and buckshot shells. But he sank before I could get the gun ready."

The monster was described as "all snake" in shape and color. Two glaring eyes, dark grey-green body 35 feet long, and thick as a man's body in the largest section visible, it later was seen by others, both native Indians and whites working and holidaying at the lake.

Mr. Jarvis said it raised 12 to 13 feet of its length from the water at one time.

It was the second local bottling plant hit by a safe burglar in the past week.

City detectives said the thief entered the Goodwill plant by removing a skylight, then applied a cutting torch to a safe found at the rear of the building.

It was burned and opened successfully.

There were burns on the second safe, located at the front of the building in the manager's office, but it was not opened.

All desks in the plants were ransecked and a liquor cabinet opened, but nothing appeared to be missing from it, police were told.

Last week about $530 was taken from Victoria Beverage Ltd., 2941 Bridge, in a similar safe-breaking where the back of the safe was chopped open.

This was the lineup in juvenile court:

PIPS, GUARDS BANDS COMING

One of the world's most famous instrumental aggregations will perform in Victoria next October, coming west in next October. Coming west in a tour of North America is Her Majesty's Coldstream Guards Band and the Pipes and Drums of the Cameron Highlanders.

Opposition was led by Bert Price (SC-Vancouver-Burrard) who felt the present required 60 per cent vote was a necessary protection. Members said this was especially the case of the elderly homeowner who may have no children of his own but might be required to pay continually for new schools for the children of others.

Also required was extension to five years of the period of leases to concessions in parks. Now council may only grant a one-year lease without a public vote.

The UBCM asked, too, that municipalities have the right to create municipal pounds outside their municipal boundaries.

Hospital Receipts Not Needed

Royal Jubilee Hospital is being inundated with letters, telephone calls and visits from residents requesting receipts for accounts paid on their behalf by the provincial hospital insurance service.

Hospital administrator George Masters appealed today to the public to please note changes in the federal income tax regulations last year which state payments by the province are no longer deductible for income tax purposes.

"Recent amendments to the income tax act state that hospital payments under the federal-provincial hospital insurance plan would no longer be deductible effective January 1, 1959."

Patients may still deduct payments to hospitals under private hospital plans, in rare cases where hospitalization is not covered by BCIS.

The Sidney will be delivered to the government Friday, with the ceremony taking place at sea.

MLAs, their wives and civic and provincial officials will be guests.

Wednesday's final trials proved satisfactory, according to VMD officials, although there are still mechanical bugs there.

At one stage Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, known for his love of "the driver's seat," took the helm as the $3,000,000 ship churned out a maximum 18.2 knots during full power trials.

The Sidney will be delivered to the government Friday, with the ceremony taking place at sea.

STOPPED 37 TIMES

Officials of the Toll Bridges and Highways authority, which will operate the ship on the Sidney-Tsawassen service, expressed satisfaction with her performance.

During the trials the Sidney was stopped and started 37 times in quick succession, went full astern at 12 knots, and from hard starboard to hard port in 13 seconds. At full speed her turning radius was 250 yards with an angle of heel of 2½ degrees.

Acceptance ceremony will take place aboard the Sidney Friday between 9 and 11.30 a.m.

Sabotage 'Out' In Fire Aboard Hydrograph Ship

Possibility of sabotage was ruled out today after a $2,000 fire gutted two cabins Wednesday night aboard the government hydrographic survey ship Marabell.

Investigation disclosed the blaze started in a locked cabin and spread to an adjoining cabin.

"There is no evidence whatsoever of the fire being deliberately started," said a spokesman for Yarrow's Ltd.

Cause of the outbreak was still not known today.

The vessel was tied up at Yarrow's where electrical work was being done in the engine room.

Smoke was so intense firemen from Esquimalt and HMC Esquimalt were forced to wear masks.

The monster was reported seen several times after that, but there had been no sightings in recent years.

"It was an illusion," Dr. Gill recalled. "It was very, very definite, and we dropped plans we'd had for a swim pretty quickly."

pulled "all over the bay" until it broke loose.

He went fishing with heavier tackle and once he spinned the hook caught. Unable to move it, and sure it is in too deep water to have caught on a deadhead, he is waiting for a friend to winch it for him.

TIMES READERS VOTE PENNIES GO TO PEGGY

Donors to the "Pennies for Peggy" fund have decided by ballot that their pennies should go to sculptress Peggy Walton Packard.

Originally the money was to go to City Hall to help finance the project for the Queen's statue. But city council, by resolution, refused it.

The Times then printed a ballot as to whether the money should go to the artist herself, or to the Art Gallery. The weight of voting is for Peggy. So a cheque covering the 5,297 pennies donated will be sent to Mrs. Packard.

51 Per Cent Vote Hits Opposition

A request by the Union of B.C. Municipalities that municipal money bylaws in future require only a 51 per cent "yes" vote to pass did not appear to be favorably received by the legislative committee on municipal affairs this morning.

Since passage of the revised Municipal Act in 1957, district municipalities have voted on the Thursday following nomination day, in conformity with cities.

Another item asked by the UBCM was permission to borrow one large sum for a series of improvement projects rather than hold a public vote for each separately.

Councils would have the right, under the plan, by a two-thirds vote to vary the projects and amounts listed in the bylaw, provided the total was not exceeded.

Also required was extension to five years of the period of leases to concessions in parks. Now council may only grant a one-year lease without a public vote.

The UBCM asked, too, that municipalities have the right to create municipal pounds outside their municipal boundaries.

The UBCM brief, presented by secretary-manager Theodore Adams, also requested municipal nomination days be moved ahead one week to the last Monday in November, and that district municipalities be allowed to revert to the practice of voting on the Saturday following nomination day.

Horror Movie Ad Controls Urged

Control of gruesome pictures advertising horror movies was urged in the legislature Wednesday by Mrs. Lois Hagen, the CCF member for Grand Forks-Greenwood.

"These advertisements are often much worse than the movies themselves," she declared. "Some of them are absolutely terrifying and must exercise a harmful effect on young minds."

From a bundle of such advertisements on her desk Mrs. Hagen quoted these titles:

"How to Make a Monster," "Teen-age Cave," "The Thing That Couldn't Die," "The Case of the Faceless Man," "The Terror from Beyond Space (It must eat you to live)," "The Brain Eaters."

Mrs. Hagen suggested control of movie advertisements by the B.C. censor of motion pictures during discussion of an estimate of $19,751 for the censor's department, which comes under the attorney-general.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said he would raise the matter with the B.C. censor and suggest some of the exhibitors might review their policy on advertisements.

Bert Price (SC-Vancouver Burrard) urged further control over movies designated "for adult entertainment only."

'Not Even Fit for Adults'

"Many of them are not even fit for adults," he said, adding that one evening he and his son toured Vancouver and found only one movie that was not "for adult entertainment only."

Mr. Bonner said the B.C. censor exercised some influence over movies dealing with sex, but did not have the same control over "plain bad taste."

The public controls them pretty effectively by not going to movies which appear to have been produced in bad taste."

Mrs. Hagen mentioned that a number of children of her acquaintance suffered "illness and hysteria" after attending what was advertised as a children's matinee of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" (a film version of the classic novel by Robert Louis Stevenson).

Mr. Bonner admitted this film might have a considerable "emotional impact" on children, but said it was no worse in that respect than Grimm's Fairy Tales.

"For sheer unadulterated horror, these tales are hard to beat," he said. "I remember the effect they had on me as a child."

However, he added, "I am genuinely uneasy about censorship of films, because censorship tends to become ridiculous when censors are given too much latitude."

Estimates for the film censor's department revealed that the censor receives $5,880 a year.

WINTER COMES LAST TO VICTORIA

Just 17 days before the official arrival of spring, the dying winter tossed a delayed punch at Victoria, snarling traffic, causing rash of fender-bending minor accidents, and generally annoying disgruntled citizens. Times photo by Irving Strickland was taken from roof of Bank of Montreal building at Douglas and Yates, looking North on Douglas toward City Hall, in early stages of storm.

High Flight Berlin Test Delayed

LONDON (Reuters) — The Western powers have decided to postpone resumption of flights above 10,000 feet in the Berlin air corridors, an informed source said today.

The source said such flights by the United States, Britain and France are unlikely in the near future.

The three powers have postponed their approach to the Berlin air safety centre to notify it of such impending flights, the source said.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman in Berlin said this week that Western flying above 10,000 feet would constitute a violation of East Germany's air space.

Earlier the three Western powers were reliably understood to have agreed that further high-altitude flights along the Berlin corridor should be made to maintain the claimed right of passage for aircraft at any height.

Yuri Beburow, chief spokesman of the Soviet embassy in East Berlin, said this is "good news."

"The result would be chaos as far as a law of the sea is concerned."

HOPEFUL

Green said he was "hopeful" that a two-thirds majority could be secured for the Canadian proposal for a six-mile territorial limit and 12-mile fishing rights with no provision for historic fishing claims by other nations.

He pointed out that it was the lone proposal to obtain even a straight majority at the 1958 conference.

Traffic Snarled All Over City

Snow covering Greater Victoria was expected to reach a depth of 4½ inches by 4:30 p.m. today, and a total of six inches Friday.

By 2 p.m., 3½ inches had fallen.

Up to press time traffic was fouled amid dozens of minor accidents.

Two B.C. Electric buses had skidded into ditches, one on Ralph and the other on Gondales.

City bus schedules were on a "catch as catch can" basis, with considerable re-routing where streets were filled with stalled cars.

Underground wiring work in central Victoria was stopped; many cars had headlamps on; as fast as it was shovelled away in front of stores more snow covered the cleared spots.

Pedestrians found precarious going, especially on walks exposed to the northeast wind.

The snow which started at 8 a.m. was confined to the southern part of the Island.

Snow started to fall in Nanaimo at 1 p.m., but there was no snow at Vancouver.

Temperature at the Gonzales weather office about noon was 26 degrees, down three degrees from the overnight low of 29.

Weatherman Bill Mackie said the area was "on the fringe" of the storm which has the U.S. Pacific Northwest in an icy grip.

Low tonight could drop to the low 20s with a high of 32 forecast for Friday.

It's Unseasonal—But Not Unique

Last heavy snow here March 3 was in 1956 when 2½ inches fell.

The snowfall is unseasonal, but not unique. There has been snow here as late as March 31.

Winds from the northeast will continue from Friday from 15 to 25 m.p.h.

Main trouble is car stalling. Close to 50 cars were piled up near the city firehall this morning, while traffic was brought to a halt for a time on Douglas Street near Fisgard.

Cars couldn't negotiate the slightest grade with ice under the snow.

Other major traffic trouble spots were on the Fort Street hill and on Burnside, although no area of the city offered good driving conditions.

In Saanich, there were trouble spots at Cloverdale and Quadra, Saanich and Douglas and Royal Oak at West Saanich. Oak Bay reported difficult hills at Cadboro Bay and Bowker and at Lansdowne.

No serious accidents were reported up until noon in any of the three outside municipalities.

City Crews Spread Salt on Roads

City works crews were out spreading salt compound at intersections to melt the snow and reduce sliding hazard.

Many motorists left their cars on downtown parking lots and made their way home by bus, taxi, or on foot. Taxi companies were swamped. Said one: "It's murder."

Drivers complained that even brand-new snow tires were no assurance of car control. There were line-ups at garages for chains or snow tires.

The youngsters weren't complaining. Those who were playing marbles Wednesday were pulling out sleds and tossing snowballs today.

A city postman pinned to an apartment house wall by a skidding car was the first serious snow casualty.

Harry Croll, 46, of 240 Nicola, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital for X-rays of a suspected leg fracture and treatment of face injury received in an accident at Blanshard.

Blizzard Hits Wide U.S. Area

CHICAGO (AP) — March storms hurled high winds and staggering loads of snow on the northeastern United States today.

A wind-whipped snow closed schools and roads in the eastern and midwestern states. Ice slowed travel in the southern states. A tornado struck in Florida.

It was the most widespread outbreak of wild weather of a rough winter. Deaths mounted to 24.
